

IN THE UNITED STATES PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE

In Re Application: Thomas R. Goodwin

Application no.: 09/755,371 317 Examiner: Mauro Jr., Thomas J.

Filed: January 5, 2001 Art Unit: 2143

For: NETWORK METHOD SYSTEM AND APPARATUS FOR RECORDING AND MAINTAINING RECORDS

DECLARATION PURSUANT TO RULE 1.131

NOW COMES the undersigned, Thomas R. Goodwin, and makes the following Declaration:

1. I am the inventor in the above application, Serial #09/755,371, and that, at all relevant times herein, I was a citizen and resident of North Carolina, and that all acts described in this Declaration took place in the United States.

2. Prior to June 29, 2000, I conceived of my invention and reduced it to practice, including a commercial version.

3. On February 2, 2000, I registered the domain name "www.planelog.com". Attached as Exhibit A is a printout showing the domain name "planelog.com" was registered on February 2, 2000. When I requested this domain name it was to be the site for my world wide network version of my invention. My network system comprising the commercial version of my invention operates at the "planelog.com" Web site and has done so since prior to June 29, 2000.

4. Prior to June 29, 2000, I purchased hardware, including a network server, so as to have the necessary equipment to begin offering "planelog.com" services. I developed the necessary software to offer the network service described and claimed in my application. Also, before June 29, 2000, after doing some online research myself regarding the patentability of my invention, I consulted a patent lawyer and began to take the necessary steps to prepare and file a patent application. This included patent searches to determine if the invention would be patentable subject matter and if it had sufficient novelty to qualify under the substantive requirements for a patent. Prior to June 29, 2000, my invention was reduced to practice and operating on a trial basis. On May 15, 2000, I reserved space at the annual Experimental Aircraft Association Convention. This is a large trade show and I intended to offer for sale the services provided by the commercial version of my invention found at the domain name “planelog.com” at this Convention. Attached as Exhibit B is a photocopy of the Contract dated May 15, 2000. Under the Products Service and Listing, the product that I would be presenting at a booth at this trade show was described as: “Service providing Internet based electronic backup of pilot logs and aircraft logs.” I also requested that this matter be held in confidence as long as possible, since no patent application was yet filed.

5. Prior to June 29, 2000, I had prepared materials for the EAA Convention, including flyers, notebooks, and advertising materials, which described and advertised the services provided under my invention. I had reduced the invention to a practical business form before June 29, 2000 and was preparing to present to the industry at the EAA Convention and to accept orders for the network based log keeping services of my invention. Representative copies of materials prepared for the EAA Convention are attached as Exhibit C.

6. Also, prior to June 29, 2000, I engaged a patent lawyer to draft a patent application. Because the business was up and running and I was making changes in the operation of the program, revisions to the patent application were required. However, the patent lawyer and I worked on a regular ongoing basis to prepare a final patent application until its filing date of January 5, 2001.

The Declarant being warned that willful, false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine, imprisonment or both under Section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code declares that all statements above are true except those statements that are made on information and belief, and, as to those statements, he believes them to be true.

This the 15 day of Feb, 2005.

Thomas R. Goodwin
